

CALL FOR PAPERS—ICES2022

Call for Papers

ICES Conferences present a distinctive opportunity for academics and policy makers to discuss most recent issues related to Covid-19 impact on regional and global economies, general issues related to economies in transition and, to share views with respect to policies which focus on the CEE region in particular. Participants have found ICES Conferences an excellent opportunity to present their research findings and further their understanding with respect to the thematic fields which are of particular interest to them and wider academic community. We hope to have similar contributions in the future and especially to deepen our knowledge base by embracing collaboration and networking in the region.

This conference aims to bring together academics as well as practitioners to discuss topical issues and disseminate high quality research in economics and business with a focus on Central and Eastern Europe. Another goal is to promote scientific information interchange between researchers, developers, students, and practitioners working all around the world.

Following earlier conferences with participants from nearly all over the CEE region as well as from many other countries, the School of Economics and Business in Sarajevo will host the 10th International Conference on October 14, 2022 in Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina. Participants will find opportunities for presenting new research, exchanging information, and discussing current issues and challenges economies are facing due to the Covid-19 pandemics recovery, inflationary tendencies and geopolitical strains on economic activity.

All papers from major economics and business fields are highly encouraged.

All accepted papers will be published in the Conference Proceedings (with an ISBN number).
